DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1,3-4, 7 and 11, drawn to a method and apparatus for measuring and changing heart rate limit, classified in class 600, subclass 509.
- II. Claims 8-9, 12-14 and 17, drawn to a method and apparatus for measuring and changing heart rate limit and estimating user's energy consumption, classified in class 600, subclass 520.
- III. Claims 5-6 and 15-16, drawn to a method and apparatus for measuring and changing heart rate limit by determining upper and lower limits, as well as heart monitoring, classified in class 482, subclass 9.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions II (combination) and I & III (subcombination) are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination doesn't require a means for measuring the heart rate, but estimating a user's stress level. The subcombination has separate utility such as a device not requiring means for estimating a stress level or energy consumption, but a device to monitor heart rate and/or receiving a predetermined stress level or energy consumption.

Inventions III and I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination does not require the different change criterion such as heart rate during exercise and could be different criterion associated with exercise, such as duration of exercise or type of exercise. The subcombination has separate utility such a device to monitor and maximize the efficiency of the preformed exercise not requiring a lower heart rate limit but just using the upper limit.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

IN ADDITION TO THE RESTRICTION A SPECIES MUST BE CHOSEN BELOW

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species: Embodiments 1-4, of the different change criterion, represented by the user's stress level, heart rate during exercise, momentary energy consumption and cumulative energy consumption, respectively. The species are independent or distinct because each can be used individually as a change criterion for the changing of the heart rate limit.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, there are no claims that are allowable and generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
